OUTDOOR & RECREATIONAL FUN

Did You Know?

The famous "Welcome to Las Vegas" sign was created in 1959 by Betty Willis.

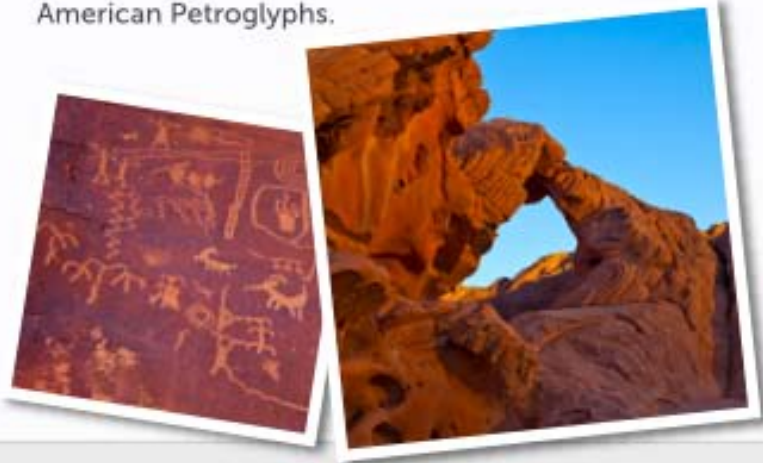

Outdoor & Recreational

The Valley Of Fire

Located in the Mojave Desert approximately 58 miles Northeast of the Las Vegas Strip. Valley of Fire is the oldest Nevada State Park and was dedicated in 1935.

The 35,000 acre park is filled with the classic quintessential south-western desert scenery. You'll be able to hike through crazy rock formations with even crazier names like Arch Rock and Mouse's tank. And see ancient Native American Petroglyphs.

When planning your trip the best times to hike are early morning and late afternoon. Also keep an eye on the climate. Winters are mild with temperatures ranging from freezing to 75 degrees. Daily summer highs often exceed 100 degrees. Summer temperatures can vary significantly from day to night. Average annual rainfall is four inches, coming from light winter showers and summer thunderstorms.
